

Dr. Sullivan's Discussion Questions:

Discussion One

- © How do you define and describe diversity? Why?
- © What does it mean to you?
- © How do you practice and support diversity? How do you feel about it?
- © Is there a point at which it feels like too much diversity?

Discussion Two

We learn who to be and how to be from our parents, who learned it from their parents, who learned it from their parents and so on. When we are immersed in our own culture, it can be like being an air breather. Everything comes naturally to you and you don't think a lot about your culture until you find yourself in a culture that is different from yours.

- © What was an important value in your family growing up? Why?

Discussion Three

We realize that there are different cultural perspectives, definitions, values, and priorities when we are interacting with someone and discover that we don't think the same way about some of the items listed above.

- © Pick one of the areas above and describe a time when you realized that how someone else saw it was different than how you saw it.
